

Policy Conversation

Template

Creating action around public policy matters first involves having rich discussions so that participants can learn about background information, explore the current problems and engage with others in a roundtable discussion. These constructive conversations create an environment for understanding the implications of a policy issue and how the group can get involved and have an impact in their own community. By building rapport and exploring common interests, the group is well equipped to engage in meaningful dialogue and take action in areas where agreement exists. Use the below template to showcase your work so that anyone can interact with your content through conversation.
